Monday 12th November

Weeping Window Poppies at IWM, London

Depart Oxted 9.00am (Route C) for the Imperial War Museum, London, which tells the stories of those whose lives have been shaped by war. IWM London is presenting Weeping Window a cascade comprising several thousand handmade ceramic poppies. The breath-taking sculpture, along with its sister one, Wave, were initially conceived as the key dramatic sculptural elements in the installation Blood Swept Lands and Seas of Red at the Tower of London in the autumn of 2014. Over the course of their time at the Tower, the two sculptures were gradually surrounded by a vast field of ceramic poppies, each one planted by a volunteer. In 2018, in addition to the Poppy sculptures, IWM will present Making a New World, a season of innovative exhibitions, installations and immersive experiences at IWM London which will explore how the First World War has shaped the society we live in today. Discover the story of the war through the eyes of the British people and the Empire, both on the home front and the fighting fronts. Gain an understanding of how the war started, why it continued, how the Allies won and its global impact. Other permanent exhibitions at IWM London are: Secret War, which explores the undercover world of espionage, covert operations and the work of Britain's Special Forces; and The Holocaust Exhibition, which traces the Nazi persecution and murder of Jewish people in Europe from 1933 to 1945. Refreshments available. Leaving to return at 3.00pm, we shall take a drive along Whitehall to see the poppies at the Cenotaph. Arriving back at Sanderstead approx. 5.00pm

Adult £22.95 • Child £20.95

(Please note that whilst entry to IWM London is free, there may be a charge for some temporary exhibitions)
